Evaluating Your 2016 Return on Investment for Employee Development?

As we approach the end of the year, it's time for some reflections:

- What worked in 2016, and what do you plan to change in the new year?
- What sort of return did you receive on your employee training and development?

We thought you'd like to see how one of our clients calculated their return on an investment into Increasing Personal Effectiveness. Interested in how our programs yield measurable results? Get the report now!
