FROM THE BLOG: I is for Influence and S is for Steadiness

Did you know that we're reviewing the four DiSC personality traits on the blog for people new to the assessment? This week: influence and steadiness. Both types enjoy working with people, but they have very different approaches and goals. Are you one of these types?

This blog series is the perfect resource for helping you decide if an assessment or an EDSI program is right for you. Learn a bit more about the four traits and see below to find out how you can take the DiSC yourself!
